

VIA: AT
 Approved For Release 2001/07/28 : CIA-RDP78-00915R000600220

CLASSIFICATION

TO : Chief, WHD

DATE: 14 March 1957

FROM : 25X1A6a

SUBJECT: GENERAL—Operational

SPECIFIC—Analysis of Chinese Communist Party Document

Reference: [REDACTED] dated 25 January 1957 25X1A2g

25X1A2d1

25X1A6a

In response to Headquarters' request for the [REDACTED] views on the overall usefulness of the [REDACTED] analysis of a recent Chinese Communist Party document forwarded with reference and succeeding [REDACTED] studies prepared for [REDACTED] use, the following comments are offered:

25X1A2d1

25X1A6a

- a. Case officers consider the analysis useful because it alerts them to possible shifts in the line of the local Communist Party and should serve to sharpen their awareness of the real current issues. The analysis contains a sharp and clear delineation of the really important points imbedded in a mass of Communist jargon that is otherwise incomprehensible.
- b. Since the Cominform Journal is no longer published, case officers in the [REDACTED] do not have ready access to information concerning what is going on in the Communist world. The local Communist Party publications may carry some articles, but they are usually in the form of editorials and represent the Communists' own interpretation. A [REDACTED] analysis is always welcome because it saves time that the case officer would have to spend in trying to analyze the local Communist Party documents.
- c. The summary on page 3 of the analysis is particularly valuable because it furnishes a convenient check list for current issues and permits the case officer to furnish intelligent and timely guidance to [REDACTED].
- d. The analysis should be a very valuable aid for interested members of [REDACTED] who normally do not have the facilities to permit the to analyze trends in the International Communist Movement.

25X1A6a

25X1A2d1

25X1X4

25X1X4

25X1X7

25X1A9a

Distribution:
 3 - Washington
 2 - Files

11 March 1957

25X1A9a

FORM NO. 51-28A
 MAR. 1949

CLASSIFICATION

Study folder

109

MISSING PAGE

ORIGINAL DOCUMENT MISSING PAGE(S):

No ATT